

Short Lead Times for V-Pan and Flat Pan Patio Covers

Currently, lead times for our affordable V-Pan and Flat Pan patio covers are 2-3 weeks. With low maintenance aluminum components, these panels provide year-round weather protection and accommodate up to a 25 PSF snow load. Our V-Pan covers have the largest span in the industry at 20' 7" while our Flat Pans span up to 19'. Our Flat Pan systems allow a ceiling mount accessory like a fan or lights using our fan beam.

Contractor Highlight: Magnum Patio Covers

Dave Boyer started his company in 2017 with his sons and officially changed their name to Magnum Patio Covers in 2018. His business took off and he's enjoyed every moment of it.

Over the past year and a half, Magnum has been constantly busy with project after project. Dave says, "Because of COVID, there's been less travels and now people have time to focus on home improvement projects. We've been at it nonstop!" The photos shown are a recent project that Dave and his crew installed in Puyallup, WA. The homeowner built a 558 sq. ft. two story deck and wanted to add a cover as a finishing touch.

Dave has been in the patio cover industry for quite a while and chose AS&D because he believes we have a unique product. He states that our built-in gutter system is an excellent design and he loves installing our insulated covers. In addition to the great product, Dave also loves the people at AS&D. He says that Mike Williams on the production floor is so gracious and caring, and that he always goes the extra mile for him. He also expresses that Mike Allen from sales is such a great asset and loves working with him.

We're attending IBS 2022

The National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) is hosting their International Builders' Show (IBS) in Orlando, FL from February 8-10, 2022. This is their premier, once-a-year event that connects, educates, and improves the residential construction industry. We're excited to announce that we'll be hosting a booth during this 3-day convention and would love to meet and see you.

We'll be sending out more information in the coming weeks.
